VolCorp Selects ibi's Data and Analytics Platform

Nashville, TN, February 26, 2021 – Volunteer Corporate Credit Union (VolCorp), a leader in payment solutions for credit unions, announces it will be working with Information Builders, Inc. (ibi), a TIBCO company, to build a data and analytics platform.

VolCorp's management team is leveraging their investment in Microsoft Azure, modernizing financial reporting and providing better access and visualizations from data residing on existing on-premises systems.

“Our goal is to modernize our reporting with our new branding for our upcoming fortieth anniversary. We also wanted to leverage ibi's data and analytics tools to identify new insights, opportunities, and cost savings. To achieve this goal, we sought a company with the technology to access and visualize our data, and provide multiple methods of gathering the information,” said Karen Clabough, VP, Project Management, VolCorp. “ibi has demonstrated they have the best software, consulting, and professional services expertise to make our vision a reality.”

“VolCorp's modernization and innovation initiative demands that its data work much harder to deliver easy-to-consume insights and analysis, driving smart business decisions,” said Jon M. Deutsch, vice president, Financial Services, ibi, a TIBCO company. “ibi's award-winning analytics technology for credit unions combines data from a virtually unlimited set of sources, delivering reports, statements, and visualizations through secured and managed channels.”

ibi's modern data and analytics platform, awarded CULytics Partner of the Year for the last two years, provides credit unions with the ability to turn every kind of data into actionable insights for real business outcomes. ibi products and services deliver leading-edge capabilities to power growth through better data and analytics.
